

by
callum&mark

The Night Sky

small natural history series

published
randomly, with love

by
callum&mark

portobello&leith
edinburgh

as the act directs

2007

download the set from <http://www.badenyon.org/callummark>

may be reproduced freely

from tiny acorns mighty stories grow

a short book

One of them can play the violin amazingly well now, and they both whistle. In addition to writing books, callum directs and produces stop-motion films, and mark is very enthusiastic about small wiggly things. This book could not have been produced without the enthusiasm for life of small acorns and other seeds.

Following the success of the first 'short book' series, callum&mark have turned their creative eyes on the marvels of the natural world.

number 8 of a natural history series

so many stars

page 1